

If you are organizing an event in a sol-gel related area, you can ask for an ISGS support.

It is part of ISGS core missions to promote sol-gel science and technology in the scientific and industrial community and to foster communication through the organization of conferences. For this reason, ISGS is pleased to offer its support to events organized in areas related to the sol-gel field. The decision to support and the nature of the support are left to the ISGS Board discretion. This decision will depend on the type of event, its size, its audience and the relevance of the topics covered by the conference for the sol-gel community.

- This support can take different forms -

> ISGS can help promote the event as *benevolent partner by diffusing flyers to promote the event and report on the event through its quarterly newsletter and its website. In return, the event organizers agree to include the ISGS logo in the conference website and conference program.

> ISGS can support financially an event as *sponsor (at least one member of the organizing committee has to be ISGS member) and will choose the most pertinent response among the different formulas presented below.
